

Subjects available in Distance Education mode

Avondale College recognises that a good working relationship between the post-graduate student, the course coordinator and individual lecturers is vital to the successful course completion. Especially is this so for students who are studying components of their course by distance mode.

Lecturers and Course Coordinators are available to provide advice on the subject content and assessment tasks is.

Lecturers will initiate contact with distance education students in order to assess their progress or difficulties. Students are expected to have adequate resources to complete the prescribed assessment tasks, however the lecturer for the subject and/or the Course Coordinator will be available to offer advice regarding writing processes and projects.

Students enrolled in courses by distance education may contact the Course Coordinator for their course as listed in the Courses section of the Handbook. Students who undertake Distance Education subjects as part of their Lifelong Learning program may contact the Postgraduate Coordinator, Dr Peter Morey, for advice and assistance
