

HOP: eBooks

A hypothetical situation?

You've left your assignment to the last minute. You just know it's going to be an all-nighter. You know the library is open late, so you hurry there to find books on your topic of DEPRESSION.

...and THIS is all that is left on the shelves...

Depressing results!

Not exactly inspirational and current research...

We have a solution! What if I told you you could access quality, up to date, scholarly resources from the comfort of your own room?

eBooks: Your new best friends

Differences between eBooks and print

▪ eBooks

- More than one person can read them at a time
- You can access them anywhere you go if you have your device with you
- Download and you have 24 hour access immediately
- Electronically annotate, highlight, bookmark
- Renew as many times as you need
- No overdue fees!

▪ Print books

- Only one person can read them at a time (unless you're really good friends)
- Do you really want to be lugging great big books around?
- You need to wait for the book you want to be returned, or put a hold on it
- You'll be in big trouble if you annotate these books
- Only one renewal allowed
- Lots of overdue fees!
